 Your Vote will be Appreciated

Virgil D. Chandler, construction engineer and licensed stevedore at the Port of Palm Beach since 1938, is seeking the job as Port Commissioner in sub-district 2, group 1.
 Mr. Chandler has served under three governors on the Port of Palm Beach Pilot Commission, and has had extensive heavy construction experience with several of the larger railroads and in lock and dam construction on the Ohio River.

 He served as an "inspector of construction" with the Army Engineers in World War II and at one time operated the Huntington Architectural Stone Company at Huntington, W. Va., before returning to railroad bridge construction work.
 For a number of years he operated his own company in West Palm Beach making and installing concrete septic tanks and installing sewage disposal systems.
 "From past experience as a construction engineer I feel I am familiar with the necessary improvements and maintenance for the port," he said.
 Mrs. Chandler is active in cultural and civic work in their community. The Chandlers reside at 5417 Pinewood Avenue, West Palm Beach.

GOOD SAMARITAN OFFERS WELL ROUNDED COURSE IN NURSING TO ITS STUDENTS
 Good Samaritan Hospital's facilities and the advantages of its School of Nursing are presented in a new Bulletin, which is available on request to all young women interested in applying for admission to the School, according to John F. Wymer, Jr., Administrator of the Hospital. The course of study, requirements for admission and opportunities for graduates of the Good Samaritan Hospital School of Nursing are outlined and applicants are urged to contact the Nursing Office at the Hospital at the earliest possible date in order that arrangements may be made for them to take the pre-nursing test, prior to admission to the September class.
 The facilities for instruction and nursing practice of the Good Samaritan Hospital School of Nursing include the classrooms and laboratories of the Nursing School, the various departments and wards of the Hospital, field practice in tuberculosis and psychiatric nursing and a full college semester in basic sciences and nursing arts. Under the direction of Miss Nazlee Vizelet, former Dean of the School of Nursing, Seattle University, Seattle, Washington, who recently joined the Good Samaritan Staff as Director of Education, in the three year course of study student nurses receive instruction and practical experience at the Hospital, Palm Beach Junior College, Lake Park, Central Florida Tuberculosis Hospital, Orlando; Florida State Hospital, Chatsahoochee; Crippled Children's Clinic, Palm Beach; Palm Beach County Health Unit, West Palm Beach, and the Visiting Nurses Association, West Palm Beach.
 The School is fully accredited by the Florida State Board of Nurse Registration and Nursing Education. Graduates are eligible for membership in the American Nurses' Association, the American Red Cross Nursing Service and also for registration in Florida and all other states granting registration through reciprocity. There is an increasing demand for the well qualified nurse, and all branches of nursing service are open to the graduates of the Good Samaritan Hospital School of Nursing. In addition to general staff and private practice nursing, numerous positions are available in the major branches of specialization, which include hospital and institutional nursing, public health nursing, military nursing, and nursing education. Salary range for graduate nurses is from $2,400.00 to $6,000.00 and more annually depending upon the ability, qualification and preparedness

Commission Program Open To Male College Grads
 Throughout the three year course at Good Samaritan the Woman's Auxiliary and Alumnae Association sponsor many varied social activities for the student nurses and both organizations maintain loan funds and scholarship. Except during the periods of affiliation at Orlando and Chatsahoochee, students live in Dodge Hall and Harris Hall, the student nurses' residences, located on the Hospital grounds, where comfortable, newly decorated living quarters are provided. Large living and recreation rooms are beautifully furnished for students to spend leisure hours and entertain guests. Classrooms, modern kitchenette are located in the residences and meals, linens and laundry are provided by the School. Two residence hostesses are responsible for the students' welfare at all times. Enrollments are now being received for the September Class at the Nursing Office and all inquiries should be sent to the Director of the School of Nursing, Good Samaritan Hospital, West Palm Beach.
 Sgt. Dyer, who visits Belle Glade each Thursday, announced that persons interested in this program should contact him at the Post Office between 2 p. m. and 5 p. m.
RESEARCH SAVING LIVES
 Because of scientific advances, cancer patients are being cured today who could not have been saved ten, five or even three years ago, says the American Cancer Society.
 Last year, 37,100 Americans were killed in traffic accidents.

TIMELY ANALYSIS OF REPUBLICAN NOMINATION

"Republicans who really want to win the presidential election in November have just got to face up to the fact that there is only one Republican candidate who can win, and that is Dwight D. Eisenhower," Kirk A. Landon, State Chairman of "Florida for Eisenhower" declared today.

"There is just no logic in Republicans working for the nomination in July of a man who will lead the party to the defeat of another 'moral victory' in November," Landon said. "Republicans in Florida who are sincerely convinced that a Republican victory in November is essential must decide if they want to win in July, in November, or both. The state primaries in New Hampshire, Minnesota, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York so clearly demonstrated that only Dwight Eisenhower can carry the Republican Party to victory in November."

Landon pointed out that because the Republican Party is a minority party, the strongest possible candidate must be nominated. On the basis of 55 million voters, 18½ million are Republicans, 21½ million are Democrats and 15 million are Independent. "If all Republicans vote Republican and all Democrats vote Democratic in November, then the Republicans need three-fifths of the Independent vote to win. Polls taken all over the nation show that Eisenhower leads Taft by a three to one margin among Independents."

Additional national poll figures compiled by Landon show that Eisenhower leads Taft by 3 per cent among Republicans when just the two are matched. Eisenhower would receive about 35 per cent of the votes of Democrats — three times as many as Taft, Eisenhower has better than a two and a half to one margin over Taft among young voters, and that Eisenhower running against a strong Democratic candidate would poll around 60 per cent of the popular vote — Taft would poll about 42 per cent.

Landon pointed out that in all the Republican primaries to date, with the isolated exception of Illinois, more Republican voters have opposed Taft than favored him. In New Hampshire, Minnesota, Nebraska, Wisconsin, and New Jersey Taft ran from a low of 2 per cent to a high of 40 per cent in Wisconsin.

"The chances for a Democratic victory have been strengthened with Truman's exit. With new faces on the Democrat ticket, the responsibility for corruption in government will be harder to pinpoint. On the other hand, the Truman exit has weakened the Democrat advantage of efficient political machines built up through 20 years in power—government propaganda facilities—government made prosperity through rearmament."

"There is no secret about Eisenhower's tremendous appeal to voters," Landon said. "The voters are tired of partisan politics, long-standing feuds and confusion in government and in party affairs. Eisenhower is a symbol of what the voters want in 1952—honesty and courage, peace and security, unity and harmony, and moral leadership."

COUNTY INCLUDED IN 58 NEW TV STATIONS PROPOSED FOR STATE

Palm Beach County can look forward to its own television on five stations which may be built under a plan of the Federal Communications Commission in Belle Glade and West Palm Beach.

The FCC plan, which has just been adopted calls for 58 new stations in Florida. Most of them will operate in the Ultra-High Frequency range, which is an untapped section of the radio spectrum. Use of this UHF band and expansion of the present Very High Frequency service should eventually permit nearly 2,000 new television stations in every section of the state. The 108 television stations now operating in the United States are in the VHF band.

"The adoption of the UHF plan in conjunction with the expansion of VHF means the beginning of a truly nationwide television service, with visual entertainment and education brought to remote miles from the nearest cities, stated Dr. C. B. Jolliffe, vice president and technical director of the Radio Corporation of America, which planned the development of UHF television. "We are ready to build the transmitting and receiving equipment to bring about this national television service."

The FCC decision to use UHF for television is based on years of scientific research and on field tests conducted by RAC and the National Broadcasting Company at Bridgeport, Conn., where in 1949 they built the country's first UHF television station to operate on a regular basis. These field tests, Dr. Jolliffe reported, showed that UHF when properly allocated geographically and properly used, was comparable in service provided by present VHF broadcasts.

When new stations are built, home television receivers will follow quickly, judging from the experience of present television areas. Based on the national pattern, Florida can anticipate more than 450,000 sets a year, or two after the new stations begin operation, with more than 18,000 sets in Palm Beach County alone.

Under the FCC plan, Florida cities and towns which may open new stations, in addition to the stations already in operation in Miami and Jacksonville, are: Belle Glade, Bradenton, Daytona Beach, Deland, Fort Lauderdale, Fort Myers, Fort Pierce, Gainesville, Jacksonville, Key West, Lake City, Lakeland, Lake Wales, Leesburg, Marianna, Miami, Ocala, Orlando, Palatka, Panama City, Pensacola, Quincy, St. Augustine, Sanford, Sarasota, Tallahassee, Tampa, St. Petersburg and West Palm Beach.

GRASS ROOTS DELEGATES TO BE UNINSTRUCTED

Delegates to be elected at the Sixth Congressional District Convention of the Grass Roots Republican Party in Florida to be held at the Court House, West Palm Beach, May 10th, 1952, will be uninstructed, according to L. Garland Biggers, Temporary Chairman.

"It is not the intention or desire of the Grass Roots Republican Party to disunite the Republicans of the State of Florida but to secure for the rank and file of registered Republicans the right to vote for Delegates to State and National Conventions and thus participate in the nomination of the Party's candidates for the Presidency and Vice Presidency," asserted Mr. Biggers.

"The Florida State Executive Committee under the cloak of a bill enacted by the 1951 Florida Legislature refused to call a Convention for the nomination and election of delegates to the National Republican Convention and assumed the role of oligarchs when its members elected a slate of delegates and alternates in Gainesville in February and in so doing denied 80,000 registered Republicans of the State their right to vote, a right inherent in the American way of life and provided for by the Constitution of the United States," continued Mr. Biggers, "and The Grass Roots Party of Florida intends to leave nothing undone to restore to the members of the Republican Party of Florida their constitutional right to vote."

According to notice appearing in this issue, Registered Republicans desiring to have their names placed in nomination at the above mentioned Convention, are requested to notify L. Garland Biggers, 350 Royal Palm Way, Palm Beach, not later than Tuesday, May 6th, 1952 of such desire.

ED LAKE OFFERS Proof Of FAVORITISM IN THE OFFICE OF THE COUNTY JUDGE

As late as last December 18th a lady, who will consent to her name and affidavit's being published, if this be denied, visited the County Judge of Palm Beach County in his office and asked him to recommend a lawyer to handle certain probate court business in his court. The Judge recommended a certain lawyer, telephoned this lawyer twice unsuccessfully and then, on the back of one of his cards, wrote the name, business address and telephone number of this lawyer, and directed her to go to see him.

ED LAKE offers in evidence, in The Handwriting Of His Opponent, this card as the People's Exhibit "A", both sides of which are reproduced herewith.

Mr. Phillips D. Anderson, attorney-at-law 711 Harry Belf. Ed. 3-6444 Judge Richard P. Robbins 100 North Beach Palm Beach, Florida

This lawyer is helping to raise the tremendous campaign fund for the present County Judge, from other lawyers who also practice in that court. From time to time the amounts of their fees from estates of deceased persons are set by the County Judge.

Nine days ago ED LAKE gave his opponent written notice that he would prove favoritism to this lawyer.

A Judge's practice of sending business to favored lawyers, though not criminal or dishonest, is not in keeping with the high traditions of the judiciary, and tends to bring our courts into disrepute.

ED LAKE has refused contributions from lawyers and everyone else, and will go into office as County Judge unburdened and embarrassed with private political obligations. His major objectives will be the protection of estates of deceased persons from excessive fees and a strict abidance by the canons of judicial ethics.

POLLS SHOW McCARTY STILL LEADING
With election day less than two weeks away, candidates swung into the home stretch in a mad gallop. While tallies are still being counted in the final Abrams' Political Poll and Survey, in a phone conversation Abrams advised that with the bulk of the expected ballots in it appears that Dan. McCarty is still high man with a commanding lead in most counties. J. Brakley Odham has been coming up fast since the start of his talkathons and has moved from third to second place. Indications are he has cut into both McCarty and Adams and it depends on what happens during the last few days of the campaign whether he can squeeze into a run-off with McCarty.

Adams, while apparently in third place, is not out of the race and his supporters throughout the state are working feverishly. All candidates have stepped up their pace with increased newspaper and radio advertising and house-to-house solicitation in many areas.

While the names of Bill Hendrix and Dale E. Spencer will appear on the ballot in the gubernatorial race, neither has shown any evidence of strength so far and are expected to draw only a smattering of votes.

The political spotlight swings momentarily from the governor's melee to the battle royal between Estes Kefauver and Richard B. Russell in the Presidential campaign. Both are able and energetic campaigners and fighters with active organizations in the state. Russell appears to be the favorite and is expected to give Kefauver a run for his money.

Senator Spessard Holland is a sure winner. His opponent is giving him no trouble and it appears a first primary walk-away in his case. The same is true with regard to Supreme Court Justice B. K. Roberts. He has the backing of the legal fraternity, is popular and respected throughout the state and generally recognized for his integrity and ability. He should win hands down in the first primary.

It is generally conceded that Tom Bailey will be high man when the final count comes in the race for State Superintendent of Public Instruction, although Ray Van Duzen is making headway and has support in many areas. Richard Mack appears to be the No. 1 boy in the race for Railroad and Public Utilities Commissioner although indications are that Tom S. Ferguson of Miami is close on his heels and may gain enough in the next two weeks to get in a run-off.

It is difficult to tell very much about the races for National Democratic Committeeman and Committeewoman. For Committeeman, J. B. Hodges seems to have the edge with Pat Whicker a strong contender.

Mrs. Louise Alford seems to be in a knock-down-drag-out tussle with Polly Rose Balfe for the Committeewoman post; both are campaigning feverishly and it looks like a photo finish at this writing.

If favorable weather prevails on election day, the heaviest vote in the state's history is expected. Numerous organizations are being urged by the Florida State Chamber of Commerce are working to "Get Out the Vote." Their efforts to bring about increased registration were most successful with records smashed in many counties.

Every effort will be made to get these qualified voters to the polls on May 6. Service clubs, the Farm Bureau, Chambers of Commerce and other groups are providing transportation to and from the polls and will welcome an opportunity to cooperate fully with citizens who want to cast a ballot.

Florida's congressional delegation is united in support of Senator Russell because of his outstanding ability, his experience and his splendid character. He offers the sound leadership this nation badly needs. Senator Russell is opposed by Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee who has been a personal friend of mine since I came to Congress six years ago. He is running, apparently, on the basis of his work as Senate Crime Committee chairman. He knows the Florida delegation supported and aided him in his anti-crime work. He also knows that "gangsterism" is no issue in this campaign.

Florida's primary is a crucial one. If Senator Russell gets our state's endorsement, he will be assured of going to the convention with more pledged delegates than any other candidate. He now has substantial support outside the South. Although he has not campaigned nationally because of his insistence upon fulfilling strictly his legislative obligations he has been quietly assured of substantial support throughout the country.

In this primary the eyes of the nation will be on Florida. People all over the country are interested in knowing that the Florida people have voted for their kind of democracy.

This challenge should inspire a big turnout at the polls next Tuesday. Your vote may decide who will be the next President of the United States. It may be the most important vote you ever cast.

WASHINGTON—We hear a great deal these days about the "resignation" of generals from their assignments in the armed forces. We cannot escape the conclusion that a double standard of personal sacrifice is in effect.

I took occasion recently to talk with the Air Force Secretary about the case of a general officer of about my age, who had been retired although in the full bloom of health and at the point of his greatest potential usefulness.

I was told that this officer was not happy in his career and that it was considered not in the best interests of the service to force a general officer to continue in the service against his will.

That rule, obviously, does not apply to the many veterans of combat experience who remained in the reserves and who have been, or are now, being ordered back to active duty.

You never hear of a private being allowed to "resign."

You never hear of a junior grade reserve officer called to active duty being allowed to "resign" or to decide when he can leave his assignment.

You probably had not heard of the pending order; but a recommendation has gone to the President for an executive order extending enlistments for a twelve months period. It is understood that this pending order does not affect the men taken into the service through Selective Service, or the statement as true — now they should not be forced to remain in under the guise of an emergency when generals from Eisenhower on down can retire or resign when they want to.

To break that contract is to commit an act of deception. The government is not holding either side of the steel dipute to a strict policy of sacrifice in the public interest or because of the national emergency. As a matter of fact in too many instances the government is allowing "breaks and opportunities" to special groups and doing so against public interest. Then why have a different standard of sacrifice for the young men now called into the service who after all are now making the active duty of reservists involuntarily called back in.

But there is a substantial number of men who will remain in uniform beyond their expected discharge date by reason of the pending order, if adopted.

All of us are devoted to the interests of national security, but it is difficult to understand why a limited number of enlisted men should be required to serve beyond the period they were told they would have to serve.

In my opinion, this has to do with basic morality of the government.

The government gave its word as to length of enlistments. The men accepted the government's greatest sacrifice of all. I have discussed this matter with the Senate Armed Services Committee and I am taking up this problem with the Secretary of Defense to urge its modification.

Following plea by County Solicitor T. Harold Will, for a continuance for the term because he was unprepared to prosecute, Criminal Court Judge E. G. Newell Friday directed a six-man jury to return a not guilty verdict for John Roy Croft, Boynton Beach, charged with breaking and entering with intent to steal to kill Ray White, 2624 N. Federal Hwy., Lake Worth, Aug. 11, 1948. Croft was convicted twice before in the same case, but was granted new trials after L. B. Reber, defense attorney, pleaded the court had erred in its instructions to the jury and in averring certain defense motions during the trial. Both previous convictions were on a reduced count of breaking and entering, with intent to commit aggravated assault.

Defense also had introduced evidence the present had been adjudged incompetent Aug. 18, 1948, shortly after the reported offense and that his sanity was ordered restored by the court March 8, 1949.

Mr. Williams told the judge the two previous trials had been handled by Assistant Solicitor L. Brannon, who was attending the funeral of his mother, who died Wednesday at Deltona, Springs. "I am not prepared to handle the case," he said, and asked for continuance for the term. On Monday Mr. Baker, the judge called for acquittal.

CASE ANNOUNCES NEW AND EASIER WAY OF FARMING

A major step forward in mechanized farming was announced recently by J. I. Case Company of Racine, Wisconsin, in connection with the first public demonstration of a line of tractors which, with mounted implements, can handle farm jobs without the operator having to leave the tractor seat to attach or detach implements.

Case officials said that the development would bring about "a new way of farming."

Carroll G. Pearce, vice-president, said the new development offered farmers, for the first time, a simplified quick-coupling hitch, as built-in standard equipment, in three power classes of tractors, for use on the smallest to the largest farms.

The demonstration showed how a score of types of mounted implements can be used with tractors employing the simplified Case hitch, at a substantial saving in cost, time and labor.

Mr. Pearce said that farmers "no longer will have to spend considerable time attaching a drawbar frame to the larger two- and three-plow tractor. By using the simplified 'Eagle' hitch, it is now possible for the tractor operator to attach or detach farm implements as easily as a man puts on or takes off his coat."

The Case "Eagle" hitch gets its name from the manner in which it grasps the farm implement as an eagle clutches its prey. It has been proven in field operations of thousands of tractors since it was introduced on the Case small-farm tractor in 1949.

"Ever since the introduction of general-purpose tractors for row crop work, farmers have sought a tractor which could handle the various types of jobs to be done on the farm without loss of time in changing implements and in getting from one job to another," Mr. Pearce said. "With the Case 'Eagle' hitch applied to three sizes of tractors, this has become an actuality."

Use Low-Cost Implements
"Having the simplified hitch on the larger tractors will extend the benefits of using mounted implements, with their lower initial cost and simplified construction, to all sizes of general-purpose tractors. Mounted tools, some as small as 50 per cent smaller than similar pull-type implements, may be stored in less space and can be gotten into and out of storage much more easily. They can also be moved at top tractor speeds on the highway, instead of at the slow rate of pull-behind implements."

"Now, for the first time, the larger tractors can be made instantly available for any farm job — whether it involves the use of belt, drawbar, power take-off or 'Eagle' hitch. This is the most modern application of these great advancements in the use of mobile power plant — the American farm tractor."

"The hydraulic-control tractor with the 'Eagle' hitch can pick up its own mounted plow, its operator can pick up his own tillage tool, or a clod crusher for compacting soil; he can pick up his planter and drop the seeds; he can pick up a cultiva-tor and, after using it, detach it quickly and ride his tractor over to the mower and pick it up for immediate use. Later on, if he wants to grind some feed, he can by means of the 'Eagle' hitch, transport his hammer mill anywhere in the barnyard and operate it from the power take-off. The farmer can hook on to a utility carrier and do any of the innumerable lifting and hauling chores around the farm. Large tractors have now been developed to the point where they are instantly available for any job the farmer wants to do."

The combination of mounted implements and simplified hitch now makes it possible, the Company said, for implements to be moved on or across highways without damaging either the road surface or the implements; eliminates the necessity of loading implements on a wagon or trailer for movement on long ways or to and from distant fields; and permits crossing of grassed waterways without damaging them. The close-coupling of implements simplifies using them in small or irregular-shaped fields. The quick-on-and-off hitch makes possible use of the tractor for transportation between home and field.

Further simplifying farm work is the new Case breakaway contour plow, which protects itself against breakage if hitting stumps or rocks by having an automatic release. Case is the first company to develop a mounted plow with a break-away feature. It is automatically detached from the tractor when it hits a deeply imbedded object. The tractor operator then latches onto it again, uses the tractor's hydraulic controls to lift the plow from the ground and over the object, drops it to the ground on the far side and resumes plowing.

The mounted break-away plow has several exclusive features which make it possible for the farmer to do with it whatever he can do with a pull-type plow. One is the spring release breakaway mechanism. The other is a pivot which causes the plow to follow the tractor, to which it is closely coupled, in correct alignment around curves and sharp corners. This greatly simplifies preparation of terraces essential in soil and water conservation practices.

The larger, more rugged Case two- and three-plow (SC and DC) tractors are now equipped with a continuously operating hydraulic system, so that operation of the lift is independent of the transmission; "live" power take-off, connected to the engine ahead of the clutch so that stopping the tractor or changing gears has no effect on the power take-off operation; and double-disk self-energizing brakes, to stop forward and rearward motion and to improve short turning in field operations.

Two- and three-plow tractors are produced by Case at the Racine Tractor Works and the small tractors are made at Rock Island, Ill. Mounted breakaway plows are made by the Case plants at Rockford and Rock Island, Illinois.

The weather was wet and boisterous on the night of the show, but when time came for the curtains to rise there weren't many vacancies left for seating. The treatise was crowded with many spectators both colored and white. The show was a tremendous success. You should have been there to travel with those great comedians, Willie Lee Glee and James Nash, who were on that Slow Train to Dixie. The cast has been spoken of as professional actors instead of Elementary School actors. The entire production was staged and directed by Mr. S. M. Murrell, the principal. Much praise goes to him for such an elegant production. Credit also goes to the other teachers — Music director, Miss C. J. Clark; Dances by Mrs. B. M. Murray; Costumes supervised by Miss L. M. White; Personnel supervised by Miss M. B. Reid; Publicity by Miss E. E. Gavin and Mrs. C. P. Penon, and Business manager Mrs. M. M. Robinson.

The entire faculty and student body worked hard and are very proud of their efforts put forth to make the show a success. We want to thank all friends and relatives who have helped and those who are still helping us make this show a great success. For all of you who haven't seen our revue be sure to travel with us to West Palm Beach at Roosevelt High School on May 5. We will take you back from Swanne, Alabama, Louisiana—where the Swamp Boats A'Comin', Georgia, in Dixie on Revival Day to Lullaby of Broadway, where the Four Steps are doing the New Low Down.

P.T.A. Notes
A business meeting of the P.T.A. was held on last Monday night. Officers were elected for the term of '52-'53. They are as follows: President, Mrs. Pauline Stokes; Vice President, Rev. E. Wright; Secretary, Miss C. J. Clark; Treasurer, Mrs. Bertha Reid; Chaplain, Mrs. Benna Wilson.

Installation of officers was performed by our P.T.A. District President, Mrs. Daisy M. Murrell.

Our P.T.A. worked very hard this term, yet there is room for improvement. We all expect to begin the new year with a stronger and more firm determination to work harder next time.

School Notes
Activities of the school as planned for the year have been carried on smoothly and right on schedule up to the present time.

Now another step is to be made toward one of our important activities of the year, our May Festival on May 27. Teachers are making plans for the May Queen contest and everyone is now on the wonder who will be the winner. Watch the column for our commencement calendar.

Illness Strikes
First grade teachers, Mrs. Claudine Penon, has been on the sick list for over a week. We regret to acknowledge her absence because of illness. We do wish Mrs. Penon a speedy recovery. Mrs. Willie Mae White, one of our appointed county substitute teachers is carrying on classroom activities.

Everglades Vocational High

With only five more weeks of school students of E.V.H. are filled with enthusiasm, trying to wind up a good year's work. Mr. W. C. Combs State Supervisor of Negro Education, and Mrs. Minnie Fields, State Supervisor of Elementary Education spent the day. Mr. Combs worked with the high school teachers, and Mrs. Fields worked with the elementary teachers.

The band rendered their annual concert on Sunday afternoon on the campus of E.V.H. The affair was well attended, and the numbers were well rendered. The band is under the direction of Mr. M. M. Hamilton.

The E.V.H. held its regular meeting on Thursday evening, April 25, 1952. Plans are being formed for a box supper to be given in the Home Making Building May 11, 1952. Watch for further announcement.

The sixth grade presented a very impressive Mother's Day program in chapel. This group is under the sponsorship of Mrs. Sylvia Jemmett.

Miss Earlene King an eleventh grade student will fly to Tallahassee, Fla. to receive her award from the office of Governor Warren. Miss King won fourth place in the employ the Physically Handicapped.

The Senior Class and their sponsor motored to Silver Springs, Florida by Florida Greyhound bus last Friday. The group expressed a very enjoyable trip.

E.V.H. representatives at the Florida State Teachers Association were Mrs. Annie Williams, and Miss Fannie Payne.

There were 1,600 more persons killed in U. S. motor vehicle accidents last year than in 1950.

FIRE DEPARTMENT HAS BUSY DAY

The South Bay Fire Department was called out twice in twenty-four hours the first of the week.

Sunday night at 9:10 the fire fighters were called to the Pure Oil Station, where a motorist who had stopped to have his car serviced dropped a lighted match on a patch of spilled gasoline which immediately ignited and threatened to burn his car and the station. Station attendants, however, were able to extinguish the blaze with a hand operated extinguisher before any damage resulted.

Monday morning the department answered a call to the Jackson sub-division where the house occupied by Lillian Seymour and family had caught fire from the stove.

A new addition had recently been completed. The fire, fortunately was confined to the old portion of the house and was quickly brought under control but before the interior had been badly damaged.

Too Late To Classify

Russell Key When the new transcontinental air service between Miami, Los Angeles and San Francisco via the Southern route becomes effective, it will be a great step forward for Florida and the Southeast.

You may not realize it, but the area served by this new air route is the fastest growing and most prosperous in the nation and these new transportation facilities will help materially to advance the whole area.

In my column of last week I gave you a running story of the pre-inaugural flight carrying you as far as Dallas, Texas. You cannot visit these fast growing prosperous Texas cities until you personally visit them, and take it from me they are well worth a visit.

Fully aware of what this new transcontinental service will mean to them, the good people of Dallas were on hand to welcome our super air giant, the 88-passenger Constellation, and the Dallas Chamber of Commerce staged a delightful welcome luncheon at the Brook Hollow Country Club.

Texas is mighty proud of the Braniff International Airlines and Tom Braniff, its president whose headquarters is in Dallas. Captain Eddie Rickenbacker of Eastern Air Lines and Ralph Damon, president of Trans World Airlines, had a lot of fun with this was the first time anybody had ever been able to get Tom Braniff in the middle. They were there now with EAL flying the Eastern end of the route and TWA the western end, but from what I have seen of Mr. Braniff and his splendid operation, I am confident he can take good care of himself.

Leaving Dallas we journeyed to Amarillo, Texas where TWA crews took over the big plane and flew us westward to the Pacific Coast. We had a real thrill when we were flown over the Hoover Dam. As you look down on this mighty work of nature it sort of makes you realize you are pretty puny after all in the general scheme of things. Flying over the mighty canyon at an elevation of 10,000 feet, we could look down and see the lit depth 5,000 feet below the surface where the turbulent Colorado River appeared as a tiny stream, although it is one of America's greatest rivers. The late afternoon sun cast its reflections on an ever-changing color scheme as the various rock formations were seen in unbelievable combinations of rich reds, browns, greens and greys.

Somewhere the monotony of everyday life seems to fade away and such questions as who will be Governor, how will the steel strike come out, or what will happen in Korea seems relatively unimportant. Here God's mighty handiwork is pictured so vividly and forcefully that a mere human being can only bow his head and give thanks that he be permitted to exist in such a marvelous universe.

Darkness has overtaken us before we reached California, but as we approached Los Angeles the twinkling lights of this great metropolis seemed to cover the entire area from the mountains to the sea. We journeyed on to San Francisco over the coastal route and could see the lights of countless coastal cities that dot the landscape between the City of the Angels and San Francisco.

Although a native of California, I had not visited the state for nearly 15 years and was amazed at the development that has taken place. San Francisco is unlike any other community in the world. A city of rare charm and beauty, it nestles among the hills that form the famed Golden Gate, Queen Mother of the several sizable communities that make up the bay area. The City of Oakland across the bay is probably larger today than San Francisco I knew as a boy. Giant industries have replaced the undeveloped areas I used to know. Communities formerly miles apart have now grown together, and great sideland freeways connect them that carry hundreds of thousands of cars daily. The few familiar spots I remembered were Golden Gate Park, the Cliff House, Ferry Building, Market Street and the cable cars.

Los Angeles today is a sprawling giant that reaches from the mountains to the sea. It harbors more people than the entire State of Florida and still grows by leaps and bounds. While I know in my heart that Florida some day will surpass anything we know in California today, I am happy in the thought that I will not be here to see it, for I love our state as it is today. I love the lakes and streams, the great open spaces, the small communities and friendly people. Los Angeles is too big, too metropolitan, too gargantuan to have any appeal as far as I am concerned.

22,000,000 WILL DIE

If cancer continues at its present death rate, more than 22,000,000 Americans alive at present will eventually die of cancer.

The American Cancer Society says this toll can be reduced if everyone supports the cancer control program by giving to the annual Cancer Crusade.
